

VOR ACCOUNT

Anyone can have a VOR account, there are no department restrictions set on who can book on the training courses.

The guidance on how to create a VOR account varies depending on whether an individual already has an account set up and whether or not they are linked to the SIC/ICT set up.

If any external organisation member of staff can see the VOR Online external website login page on their work computer and can enter their computer login details they can go ahead and set up a VOR account. Anyone without an account can choose to register for an account from the login screen of VOR Online.

There are some third sector services who are linked to the SIC email/login system that have to login to VOR in the same way as an SIC staff member does if they are logged into their work computer, this may be the case for VAS.

Anyone with issues accessing VOR or not sure what to do should email workforce.developmentteam@shetland.gov.uk as the guidance will vary depending on whether or not they already have an account set up and whether or not they are linked to the SIC ICT set up. We would be looking to help get their VOR accounts set up so they can view and book courses themselves rather than making bookings on their behalf as they will need VOR access to be able to submit feedback or access their certificate following the training.
